"Happy Days Are Here Again." For decades, that was the unofficial theme song of the Democratic Party. A band played the song at the 1932 Democratic National Convention that nominated Franklin Delano Roosevelt for president. Then FDR made it his campaign song. As a young man I loved the song — until the 1968 Democratic convention in Chicago. Starting then, I labored it for 52 years. I ...

Happy Days Are Here Again Indefatigable Tayo: mille grazie. We finally made it to John Lewis. I've never been so tired in my entire born life. The government very helpfully instituted a lockdown the day before our stock was being delivered, but we decided to go for it anyway, half a loaf always being better than none. It was a really weird week – on the Sunday, there were over a hundred in ...
