The difference between hand lettering and calligraphy is - Although both hand lettering and calligraphy are visual art forms related to letters, their main difference is the method used to create the letters. Hand lettering focuses on drawing and illustrating the letters. Calligraphy, on the other hand, is the art of beautiful writing.

The Difference Between Hand Lettering And Calligraphy ...

Unlike typography, Lettering and Calligraphy are a custom approach to a composition. Hand crafted solutions can often solve design problems and convey emotion giving a more human feel to the work. It might not be immediately obvious to the viewer that someone drew or wrote each letterform by hand, but there's something they can usually recognise as being 'different' and more authentic.

Creative Lettering and Beyond: Timeless Calligraphy: A ...

Calligraphy and hand-lettering are often thought to be the same thing, but there is a difference: True calligraphy is an ancient Chinese art form that requires intense training, skill, and a lot of fancy (and expensive) tools. Hand-lettering, on the other hand, is a much easier and more informal form of calligraphy; think of it as an elevated form of writing in cursive.
